GET TO KNOW

Executive Pastry Chef Bryce Ekeren started working as a Hy-Vee Sweet Shoppe manager about eight months ago in Minnesota. Previously, he created unforgettable desserts at hotels, resorts and on a cruise ship. Now he keeps Hy-Vee shoppers happy.

Get Chef Bryce's truffle recipe, page 60.

My career has taken me to Florida, Hawaii, Texas, Germany and places in between, but I'm fortunate to be back home again in Minnesota. Hy-Vee's concept for Sweet Shoppes in stores was presented to me, and I was lucky enough to get in on the ground floor.

Three Sweet Shoppes have opened so far in Minnesota. But more are coming soon to Hy-Vee stores throughout the Midwest. Each Sweet Shoppe is an island of irresistible pleasures. Our design staff fills cases with such delightful confections as White Chocolate Mousse Cakes, Fresh Fruit Chocolate Lattice Cakes, Sea Salt Caramel Truffles, Mini Champagne Cupcakes, S'Mores Cake Donuts and countless others.

Because our designers are so talented, we set aside a spot at the counter for their original work. I even put in some of my own, including 10-piece chocolate puzzles that were little snow scenes. A food-grade printer was used to create the three-dimensional pieces. It was fun, but I should have made more than 60. I don't think there was anything else like it in Minneapolis.

You can understand why I'm so happy working for Hy-Vee. I've got carte blanche to find new ways to make people smile.

With this issue, we've narrowed the focus of Hy-Vee Seasons exclusively to food. Over the last decade, recipes and cooking-related stories have always been central. Now cooking, baking, roasting, grilling, blending and other culinary delights are our only subjects.

In addition to the newly narrowed focus, I am biased about this issue for another reason: The star of this issue is chocolate. Be still, my heart! Discover how to prepare a Triple Cocoa Cocktail in "Cheers," page 15, whip up "Chocolate Classics," page 18, or bring out the delicious essence of pork and chicken in "Savory Chocolate," page 36.

Enjoy sampling all you find on these pages. There's magic in every bite and each sip.

Sincerely,
Bryce Ekeren | Hy-Vee, Eagan, Minnesota

CHOCOLATE BERRY CUBES

Make easy chocolate treats by filling the cups of an ice cube tray two-thirds full of melted dark chocolate. Add a few berries, pressing into the chocolate. Refrigerate for 1 hour before removing the cubes.

milk and cookie shooters

STEP 1: Stir together 1 (16.5-oz.) package Hy-Vee chocolate chip cookie dough and ½ cup Hy-Vee all-purpose flour. Press dough onto bottom and sides of six (3-oz.) metal ramekins. Refrigerate for 30 minutes.

STEP 2: Preheat oven to 375°F. Place ramekins on a baking sheet. Bake for 10 minutes. Using the handle of a wooden spoon, gently press puffed areas of dough against the bottom and edges of ramekins. Bake 10 more minutes or until golden, pressing puffed areas as needed. Cool cookie shells in ramekins for 15 minutes.

STEP 3: Using a paring knife, loosen shells from sides of ramekins; invert onto a wire rack. Brush melted chocolate (see directions, page 12) inside each shell to seal the bottom and sides; refrigerate until chocolate sets. Fill shells with milk and serve.

Chocolate Bowls

STEP 1: Inflate small balloons, then wash and thoroughly dry them. Lightly coat the balloons with Hy-Vee nonstick cooking spray. Set aside.

STEP 2: Melt bittersweet chocolate (see directions, page 12). Dip the bottoms of balloons in bittersweet chocolate, then place the balloons on a small baking sheet lined with parchment paper. Let stand at room temperature for 1 hour or refrigerate for 30 minutes or until chocolate sets up.

STEP 3: Use a pin to poke a hole near the knot and slowly let out the air. Carefully remove the balloon. Fill the bowls as desired and serve immediately or store in an airtight container in the refrigerator for up to 3 days.

To make white bowls, substitute white chocolate for bittersweet chocolate.

Strawberries

BRIGHT RED AND BEAUTIFUL, STRAWBERRIES CAN MAKE OUR MOUTHS WATER LIKE FEW OTHER FOODS. NOT ACTUALLY A BERRY, THIS UNUSUAL FRUIT IS THE ONLY ONE TO WEAR ITS SEEDS ON THE OUTSIDE—SOME 200 OR SO PER STRAWBERRY!

need to know

SELECT

Choose strawberries that are firm, plump and aromatic with the green leaves still attached. Color is a good telltale sign that strawberries are ripe and sweet: the redder, the better. Once picked, a strawberry will not ripen any more, so avoid any that are partially white if possible.

STORE

Strawberries will keep fresh for a few days in the refrigerator. Do not trim or wash them until just before eating, as this will hasten spoilage. You can freeze strawberries for up to six months. Place washed and trimmed berries on a baking sheet. When frozen, transfer to an airtight container for storing.

NUTRITION

Strawberries are bursting with nutrition. They are an excellent source of vitamin C, manganese and potassium and are also rich in antioxidants. One cup of strawberries contains less than 50 calories and 3 grams of fiber, which helps regulate blood sugar.

In separate bowls, melt bittersweet chocolate, white chocolate and pink candy melts. See directions, page 12.

Dip three-fourths of each strawberry into bittersweet chocolate and place on waxed paper. Let stand until chocolate sets. Dip half of each strawberry into white chocolate and return to waxed paper. Let stand until set.

Dip one-fourth of each strawberry into candy melts and place once more on waxed paper. Let stand for a few minutes or until final coating is firm but tacky. Sprinkle with desired nonpareils or sprinkles and let stand until set.

MEET SHANNON AHLMAN

Title
Floral Manager at Hy-Vee in Grand Island, NE

Years at Hy-Vee
Six years

Awards
Winner of 2016 Hy-Vee Extreme Floral Design Challenge

What's your favorite part of the job?

"As a florist, you are portraying emotion in the arrangements that you create. So you are making these connections with people that can be very deep."

When did you begin noticing flowers?

"I had a green thumb as a kid so gardening was a natural interest for me."

What drew you to the floral business?

"It started with a little flower called the African violet. I fell in love with it. Totally hooked. Opened a flower shop and originally thought we were going to grow African violets and everyone else would love them too. But this was a small community, so we added other fresh flowers to our stock and those took over pretty quickly."

Surrounded by flowers, Hy-Vee Floral Manager Shannon Ahlman is in his element. A lifelong gardener, he takes pride in his floral designs and enjoys nothing more than beautiful blooms.

From the Heart

WANT TO EXPRESS YOUR LOVE, CHEER UP YOUR MOTHER OR CONSOLE A FRIEND? DO IT WITH FLOWERS, SAYS HY-VEE FLORIST SHANNON AHLMAN.

Q: When did you decide to become a florist?
A: I started with an eight-hour course from a community college in Omaha. At the time, I was going to Wayne State College in Wayne [Nebraska], but I drove to Omaha once a week for four weeks to take evening classes. Then I learned on my own—observed a lot, looked at magazines, did my research. This was all before the Internet. It was all trial and error. Then I had my own floral shop for 10 years.

Q: So what was the learning curve like for you?
A: I always remember the first wedding we did. I delivered this very light box of corsages and boutonnieres to the church. When I got to the church door carrying the box, a big gust of wind came up and, right in front of my eyes, all the flowers blew away. Everything was flying down the street. A guy stopped and helped me gather them but it was a disaster. I had a lot to learn.

Q: What early lesson sticks with you today?
A: I started seeing that every flower is different, even if they are the same kind of flower. There are small variations in color and height and look. These differences dictate how a design should go for the best results.

Q: What is your biggest challenge as a florist?
A: Florists share some of the most emotional and intimate moments of life with our customers. People come to us for engagements, weddings, the death of loved ones, those kinds of things. Big life moments. You have to be sensitive to them. Like, when it's prom season, young girls come to us to order prom corsages. They come with hopes and expectations for their big night. But for our designers, it means 300 corsages and all the work that comes with that. Maybe they get a little overwhelmed. So I remind them, "Girls who get these corsages want the best. Don't forget that. You're taking care of somebody else's emotions."

Q: What simple rules would you give those who want to create their own flower arrangements?
A: One: Be sure to recut the ends of stems before putting them in water so the flower can draw in more water. Two: Limit the amount of foliage that will be below the waterline. Three: Cut flowers so the blooms sit along the rim of the vase, rather than sticking out all over the place. Four: Nothing is worse than the polka-dot effect. That's where you have a bunch of flowers in light colors and stick in a few darker colors. The arrangement starts looking like polka dots. Instead, keep colors of all the flowers in the same hue. You might have a color scheme of all blues, all reds, all yellows or whatever you please.

Rose Know-How

SELECT THE FRESHEST

Pick roses that are just beginning to open, says Jodi Evans, Hy-Vee Floral Manager in Ankeny, IA. These have the best potential to open. Super tight buds may seem like the right choice, but they don't always open.

MAKE THEM LAST LONGER

- Keep the roses in a cool place.
- Change the water every couple of days. Trim only the stems at a 45-degree angle with hand pruners. Underwater trimming prevents air exposure, which causes roses to deteriorate faster.
- Add flower food to a new batch of water. It will provide nutrients the roses need to stay fresh for a longer period of time.

CHOCOLATE IS SWEET, BUT SO IS RECEIVING A BEAUTIFUL BOUQUET OF ROSES FROM A LOVED ONE ON V-DAY. HERE ARE FUN FACTS ABOUT THE CLASSIC BUD.

WHAT'S THAT COLOR MEAN?

White/Cream Purity, Innocence, Silence, Secrecy, Delight	Peach Appreciation, Closing the Deal, "Let's Get Together," Sincerity, Gratitude
Pink Appreciation, "Thank You," Admiration, Gentleness	Yellow Joy, Delight, Friendship, "Welcome Back," New Beginnings
Red Romantic Love, Passion, Beauty, Courage, Respect	Green Abundant Growth, Renewal of Life and Energy, Cheerfulness
Orange Enthusiasm, Desire, Fascination	Purple Love at First Sight, Enchantment

Long-stem, short-stem, wrapped with greens and baby's breath or beautifully arranged in a vase, roses are abundant at your Hy-Vee Floral department. Let Hy-Vee help you delight your valentine in a special way.

Melting Chocolate

REVEAL THE LUSCIOUS SIDE OF CHOCOLATE BY MELTING IT. THE FIRM TEXTURE TURNS INTO A RICH POOL OF SWEETNESS YOU CAN USE TO DIP, DRIZZLE OR COAT.

3 ways

DIRECT HEAT

Place chopped chocolate in a small heavy saucepan over low heat. Stir constantly until chocolate just begins to melt. Remove saucepan from heat and continue stirring until smooth.

MICROWAVE

Place 6 oz. chopped chocolate in a microwave-safe bowl. Microwave, uncovered, on 50 percent power for 1 minute; stir. Microwave on 50 percent power for 2 to 3 more minutes, stirring every 30 seconds until chocolate is melted and smooth.

DOUBLE BOILER

Place chopped chocolate in a heatproof bowl set over hot, but not boiling, water. Stir occasionally until chocolate is almost melted. Remove from heat and stir until chocolate is melted and smooth.

* Bonus Feature: Learn how to melt chocolate. Watch the video at hy-vee.com

WORDS: Lois White PHOTOS: Cameron Sadeighpour and Tobin Bennett

Melt It!

Here are the types of chocolate that are good for melting. Break or chop bars into small pieces to speed the melting process.

WHITE CHOCOLATE

For melting, use only bars or wafers that contain cocoa butter. Sweet, rich white chocolate pairs well with fruits that have high acidity, such as tart berries and citrus. Macadamia nuts also complement the richness of white chocolate.

DARK CHOCOLATE

Smooth, dark semisweet and intensely flavored bittersweet bars and wafers are considered dark chocolate. Complement the chocolate with something very sweet—ripe strawberries, pears or bananas—or nuts with distinctive flavor components, such as peanuts and hazelnuts.

MILK CHOCOLATE

Milk chocolate is sweeter and less bitter than dark chocolate. Pair it with caramel or peanut butter for a rich combo or with milder nuts, such as walnuts.

CANDY COATING

This chocolate-like product, also called almond bark, contains vegetable fat instead of cocoa butter, so it is not as rich in flavor. It comes in assorted colors and flavors and sets up quickly.

Garnishes

Fine Curls To create flat, thin shavings, scrape a vegetable peeler or knife lengthwise across an edge of a softened chocolate bar held over a paper plate. Keep the bar in your back pocket for a few minutes to get it to the right temperature. Avoid touching the shavings as they will quickly melt. Chill finished curls in the refrigerator until ready to use.

Loose Curls Spread a melted baking bar or candy coating onto the bottom of a baking pan. Let stand in a cool place until chocolate is firm. Using a metal spatula, scrape chocolate from bottom of pan into loose curls. Chill finished curls in the refrigerator until ready to use.

HOW TO STORE

Place chocolate in a sealed plastic bag and store in a cool, dry place (65°F) for up to 1 year. If stored at warmer temps, it may develop a "bloom," or grayish marks. Bloom will not affect the quality of chocolate for melting or baking.

MELTING POINTERS

Chop the Chocolate Always use a dry cutting board and a sharp, heavy knife when chopping chocolate. It's easiest if you begin chopping from a corner of the chocolate.

Keep Moisture Away Make sure all equipment is completely dry and do not cover chocolate while melting. Even just a drop of water may cause the chocolate to "seize," meaning it will clump, harden and become dry and grainy.

Use Low Heat For the smoothest results, melt chocolate slowly and gently at a low temperature. It needs only to get warm to melt.

Stir Often Tend to the chocolate closely while it's melting, as it can scorch in a split second.

Filigree Hearts

LACY, DELICATE CHOCOLATE HEARTS MAKE ELEGANT GARNISHES FOR DESSERTS AND DRINKS. TO MAKE SEVERAL HEARTS AT A TIME, USE A BAKING SHEET AND CAREFULLY REPOSITION THE PATTERN UNDER THE PARCHMENT AS YOU GO ALONG. REFRIGERATE THE HEARTS LAYERED BETWEEN SHEETS OF WAXED PAPER IN AN AIRTIGHT CONTAINER.

HOW TO PIPE CHOCOLATE HEARTS

STEP ONE: Pour melted chocolate into a small cone made of parchment paper (or a small resealable plastic bag). Cut off a tip to make a small hole.

STEP TWO: Lay a piece of parchment paper on top of your heart design or template.* Squeeze the chocolate out in a thin line onto the parchment, tracing the heart and design details.

STEP THREE: Freeze for 20 minutes or until set.

STEP FOUR: Using an icing spatula, gently remove the chocolate hearts from the parchment paper.

GET YOUR DAILY DOSE OF CHOCOLATE WITH THIS HELPFUL GUIDE.

DARK CHOCOLATE

Bittersweet and semisweet are considered dark chocolate; use them interchangeably for baking and candy making as well as eating out of hand. Semisweet contains 52 to 62 percent cacao and has a higher sugar content. It's a popular choice for cookies and desserts. Bittersweet contains up to 85 percent cacao. Its pure, intense chocolate flavor shines in a rich ganache.

WHITE CHOCOLATE

Simply put, white chocolate isn't really chocolate at all. The creamy ivory-hued product contains no pure chocolate or cocoa solids. It's called white chocolate because it contains cocoa butter, milk solids and sugar. It melts beautifully for a candy coating, and its sweetness makes it a lovely addition to baked goods. In baking, use only white chocolate products with cocoa butter on the label.

MILK CHOCOLATE

Mild, sweet milk chocolate contains significantly less cacao than dark—36 to 46 percent. With at least 12 percent milk solids, the chocolate is lighter in color and milder than dark chocolate. Its high sugar content makes it sensitive to heat, so it's best to use this in no-bake recipes, fillings or icings, or as a topping for baked treats.

All chocolate begins with the cacao (kah-KAY-oh) tree. ITS BEANS CONTAIN COCOA BUTTER AND CHOCOLATE LIQUOR—THE AMOUNTS OF EACH DETERMINE THE FLAVOR OF THE CHOCOLATE AND HOW IT IS BEST USED.

UNSWEETENED CHOCOLATE

ALSO CALLED BAKING CHOCOLATE, THIS PRODUCT IS PURE CHOCOLATE AND COCOA BUTTER—NO ADDED SUGAR. ITS DEPTH OF FLAVOR STANDS OUT IN BROWNIES, COOKIES AND CHOCOLATE CAKE—ALL RECIPES THAT ALSO CALL FOR A GOOD AMOUNT OF SUGAR TO BALANCE THE HARSH BITTERNESS OF THE CHOCOLATE. YOU CAN SUBSTITUTE UNSWEETENED CHOCOLATE FOR DARK CHOCOLATE BY SLIGHTLY INCREASING THE SUGAR IN YOUR RECIPE.

FUN fact

mmm... aaahhh... delight calm get relaxed
The smell of chocolate increases theta brain waves, which trigger relaxation.

PREPPING CHOCOLATE

CHOPPING CHOCOLATE
Using a chef's knife, cut chocolate into large chunks. Chop into smaller pieces by making small chops with the knife, moving side to side.

GRATING CHOCOLATE
Rub a cool, firm square of chocolate across the large section of a handheld grater.

SHAVING CHOCOLATE
Draw a vegetable peeler across the narrow side of a bar of room-temperature chocolate (milk chocolate works best).

What is cocoa powder? Cocoa powder is made when chocolate liquor is pressed to remove three quarters of its cocoa butter. The remaining cocoa solids are processed to make fine unsweetened cocoa powder. When it comes to delivering deep, dark chocolate flavor, cocoa powder is hard to beat. It comes in two forms: natural or Dutched.

Natural cocoa powder Unsweetened cocoa powder is naturally acidic and has an intense bitter flavor. It's often used in recipes calling for baking soda; the two react with each other to allow baked goods to rise.

Dutch-process cocoa This powder has been treated with an alkali to neutralize the natural acidity in the cocoa solids. It has a more mellow chocolate flavor and a deeper color than natural cocoa powder.

When to use either type You can use either type in recipes that do not call for baking soda or baking powder. In other cases, it's best to stick with the type of cocoa called for in the recipe. If the recipe doesn't specify, use natural cocoa. Using the wrong type of cocoa can result in a flat cake or sunken cupcakes.

ZÖET PREMIUM BELGIAN CHOCOLATE

Belgian chocolatiers have a reputation for producing some of the most decadent chocolate in the world. Belgium, known as the “Chocolate Capital of the World,” is where chocolate is scrutinized by experts for its aroma, flavor and fine texture. For Belgians, chocolate is more than food; it’s a way of life. You won’t walk the cobbled streets of Brussels without seeing some of the country’s 2,000 specialty chocolate shops. Add to this Belgium’s 500 different manufacturers, and it seems the scent of chocolate hangs in the air of this small country like a sweet fog.

It was here, just outside of Brussels, that ZÖET chocolate bars were created by experts who use some of the finest ingredients and cacao beans in the world to make them. ZÖET, the Dutch word for “sweet,” is available in bar form in more than 20 varieties of milk, dark and white chocolate with a range of mix-ins, such as caramel and fruit. The bars travel across the Atlantic and are sold exclusively at Hy-Vee grocery stores.

The secret behind ZÖET bars? The Belgians use higher-than-average cocoa powder content—43 percent to the United States’ 20 percent—and a lengthier blending process that delivers a smoother result. The mastery of old-world techniques is combined with modern technology to successfully transform a delicacy previously enjoyed only by the affluent into a luxury everyone can appreciate.

CHOCOLATE FAQS

WHAT MAKES BELGIAN CHOCOLATE UNIQUE?

Belgian chocolate uses cacao beans grown in the Congo, located in Central Africa. The hot, rainy and tropical climate in this area is ideal for growing some of the best quality cacao beans in the world. Belgian chocolatiers, who love chocolate as much as you do, use the beans to prepare ZÖET premium chocolate bars.

WHAT DO THE CACAO PERCENTAGES MEAN?

The “% cacao” that you’ll find on packages of ZÖET bars refers to the percentage of cocoa solids in the chocolate. Cocoa solids are all the ingredients from a cacao bean, including cocoa powder, cocoa butter, chocolate liquor and even ground cocoa nib. The higher the percentage, the darker and more strongly flavored the chocolate will be as there is less room for sugar and other flavorings in the product. A higher percentage also means the chocolate has more health benefits.

WHAT ARE SOME OF THE HEALTH BENEFITS OF DARK CHOCOLATE?

Dark chocolate with 70 percent or more cacao is rich in antioxidants. It has been scientifically proven to boost your mood and improve blood flow, while lowering blood pressure. It also contains a good dose of iron, and just a small amount can cure a chocolate craving.

CHOCOLATE TASTING PARTY

Eat a lot of chocolate in small amounts, compare notes on the flavors and maybe even discover a new fave. Sound like fun? Then invite a few friends over to indulge in ZÖET chocolate bars, which come in many different flavors. Here are tips for helping guests make the most of every bite of chocolate.

OFFER A VARIETY of ZÖET chocolate bars, including white chocolate, milk chocolate, dark chocolate and extra dark chocolate. Allow roughly two squares per person. Any more will overwhelm palates.

SERVE FROM BITTER TO SWEET—dark first, then milk, then white. However, start with the sweetest of the dark chocolates—those with the lowest percentage of cacao—and work your way up to the strongest.

PROVIDE PALATE CLEANSERS, such as apple slices or crusty fresh bakery bread, along with water so one type of chocolate doesn't influence another type.

At your chocolate tasting, include both dried and fresh fruits. Dried fruits have concentrated flavors, so they stand up to dark chocolate. Fresh berries and citrus complement the richness of white and milk chocolate, while nuts add a delightful crunch. Crusty fresh bakery bread or unsalted crackers help neutralize the palate. Coffee is a good way to end your tasting. Pair dark chocolate with bolder, darker roast coffees and milk chocolate and caramel with medium or light roasts.

SPREAD THE LOVE

Open a jar of ZÖET spread and add a little sweetness to your day. The spreads come in amazing flavors that will delight your senses. Their smooth, creamy richness takes waffles, toast or crepes to a whole new level. Use them as a dip for strawberries or apples. Or, better yet, sneak a spoonful right out of the jar.

SPREAD FLAVOR GUIDE

1. ZÖET Speculoos Cookie Butter is made with generous chunks of Belgian Speculoos cookies. The spiced shortcrust biscuits give it a gingerbread flavor with a caramel accent.

2. ZÖET Dark Chocolate Spread is rich, dark and decadent and as good as eating brownie batter right out of the bowl.

3. ZÖET Toffee Bits & Sea Salt Milk Chocolate

Spread has a distinctive salty-sweet flavor and gets its crunch from the toffee bits.

4. ZÖET Almond Chocolate Spread is made with almond butter and low-fat cocoa powder. It's ultracreamy.

will you be my galentine?

WORDS Lois White PHOTOS Cameron Sadeghpour and Tobin Bennett

This February, grab the girls and celebrate. Coined in 2010 by Leslie Knope on the television series Parks and Recreation, Galentine's Day takes place on February 13th. The unofficial holiday celebrates friendship and ladies, from coworkers to sisters.

If you're planning to host, keep these tips in mind. Plan a group game that generates noise and laughter. Charades, Taboo and Apples to Apples become even more outrageously fun after a couple of bubbly cocktails or glasses of wine.

Choose bite-size foods that take minimal effort to pull together but leave your guests satisfied. Let an over-the-top treat like the donut cake, opposite, be a sweet surprise. Offer at least one signature cocktail (see Strawberry Moscato Cocktail, page 56). For decoration, get creative with anything pink, white or metallic. Streamers, balloons and florals are all available at your local Hy-Vee.

DONUT CAKE

OH, DONUT LOVERS, HERE WE HAVE THE PERFECT CAKE THAT'S BIG ON FUN AND EASY TO MAKE. YOU DON'T EVEN HAVE TO TURN ON THE OVEN!

GATHER THE COMPONENTS
Order two dozen cake donuts from your Hy-Vee Bakery—enough to fit a 10-in. pedestal. Purchase candies and sprinkles, plus a dozen roses in white, ivory and various shades of pink from your Hy-Vee Floral department.

CREATE THE CAKE
Ice the donuts and add desired candies and sprinkles. Once they're dry, get stacking. Tuck a few food-safe roses into the open spaces for a festive look. Be sure to gently wash and dry the roses before allowing them to touch the food.

Mini Pizzas

Total Time 45 minutes
Serves 3 (1 individual pizza each)

1 Tbsp. Hy-Vee Select olive oil, for greasing
1 (6.5-oz.) pkg. Hy-Vee pizza crust mix
1 Tbsp. Hy-Vee Italian seasoning
½ cup hot water

1. PREHEAT oven to 450°F. Grease a baking sheet; set aside.

2. COMBINE pizza crust mix, Italian seasoning and water in a bowl until moistened. Divide dough into three portions. Using floured fingers, form each portion into a heart-shaped crust on prepared baking sheet. Bake for 10 minutes or until edges are golden. Reduce oven temperature to 425°F. Continue with one of the options that follow.

CHICKEN PESTO PIZZAS: Spread half of a 6.5-oz. jar Hy-Vee Select pesto Genovese onto crusts. Top with 1 cup chopped cooked chicken, 8 oz. mozzarella pearls, 1 cup halved grape tomatoes and a drizzle of bottled garlic butter sauce. Bake for 6 to 8 minutes more or until cheese is bubbly. Let stand for 5 minutes before serving.

HAM AND GRAPE PIZZAS: Sprinkle 1 cup shredded Fontina cheese (4 oz.) on crusts. Top with 5 thin slices deli smoked ham, 1 medium sliced tomato and ½ cup halved red seedless grapes. Drizzle with 1 Tbsp. Hy-Vee honey and sprinkle with chopped fresh thyme. Bake as directed above.

No fork twirling required for this twist on an Italian dinner. Heat frozen Italian meatballs according to package directions; toss with jarred vodka pasta sauce. Stick a cocktail fork or party pick into each meatball, then wrap cooked spaghetti noodles around fork.

2. PROSCIUTTO RIBBON MANGO

This two-ingredient appetizer is the easiest party starter ever! Peel and seed a fresh mango; cut into large chunks. Cut prosciutto slices lengthwise into ribbons. Wrap a prosciutto ribbon around each mango chunk and—ta-da!—it's ready to secure with a toothpick.

3. BEET HUMMUS

Get in on a fun new way to eat a finger-friendly starter like crostini. Combine 1 (10-oz.) container Hy-Vee Select original hummus and ½ cup drained pickled beet slices in a blender. Cover and blend until smooth. Spread mixture on toasted Hy-Vee Bakery French baguette slices; top with radish slices and yellow tomato halves. 1. PRETTY PETITS FOURS

Once a staple of tea parties in 19th-century Europe, these deliciously darling cakes are a must-have for a Galentine's Day dessert spread. Look no further than your Hy-Vee Bakery, where the cakes come covered in icing. You can request the addition of pink and white hearts to go along with your party theme.

2. MINI CUPCAKES

These delicate cakes pack a deliciously sweet punch with a generous buttercream topping. Purchase unfrosted mini chocolate cupcakes and vanilla buttercream icing at your Hy-Vee Bakery. Pipe the icing on each cupcake, sprinkle with coarse sugar and add a fresh raspberry. For the heart decoration, melt pink candy melts according to package directions. Pipe the melted candy into heart shapes onto a sheet of waxed paper, chill to set then insert into the icing.

3. TIE-DYED COOKIE POPS

The only thing better than eating your favorite sandwich cookies is dressing them up for a party. Insert a lollipop stick into the cream filling of each cookie. Then melt white chocolate according to package directions. Using a toothpick, swirl oil-based pink food coloring into the white chocolate. Partially dip cookies into the coating; gently tap the stick to allow excess coating to drip off, then place upright in a glass to dry. (Note: Use oil-based food coloring to prevent the white chocolate from seizing up.)

Hy-Vee cake designers Kassie Mather and Patty Hammond were a first for the Food Network's Cake Wars competition. In four years on TV, there had never been contestants who worked for a supermarket. Though the experience didn't end as Kassie and Patty had hoped, their visit to prime time was definitely an adventure.

WORDS Lois White and Steve Cooper PHOTOS Cameron Sadeghpour

Q: How did you get on Cake Wars?

Kassie: At the end of an episode one night, they said that anyone who wanted to be on the next season could go online and let them know. So jokingly I said, "Oh yeah, I could do that." Then my husband and my boys are like, "Yeah, you should do that!"

Q: How was it decided the two of you would appear on the show?

Kassie: I got an email from a producer asking for photos showing our work. A few months later, I got a call asking for a video of us. Then the producer calls and says we are flying you to Los Angeles on July 19 to film for four days.

Q: How did the filming go?

Kassie: Magic was the theme for the first round and we only got 75 minutes to make the cake. So we had to come up with something to do really fast but also clean and smooth and related to magic. When we watched the episode later, I felt some of the other contestants spent a lot of time arguing with each other. Patty and I worked together and it went smoother for us.

Patty: Once we went live, I thought I was going to throw up. But I told myself, "You can do this. You know what you are doing. You are good at this." And it started going better. Then we got in this groove and it was just Kassie and me working, laughing and having fun. It became all about representing Hy-Vee and doing well.

Q: At the end of filming, one team was cut. How hard was it when the producers picked you?

Patty: I was totally bummed. We had an amazing cake planned if we made the finals. It was really a cool design, but we didn't get a chance to show it off on national television.

THE CAKE

This was Kassie and Patty's design for Cake Wars.

Kassie: When our episode was finally on in October, everyone could see that we had skills. That's obvious to anyone who ever sees our work.

Q: So what was your take-away from the experience?

Kassie: I look back and I feel like we really did great competitionwise, no matter what happened. Patty and I really showed off how creative we can be.

Q: No doubt you have made other cakes that were memorable. Tell us about your favorites.

Patty: I had a cake recently where they wanted a piped-on Tyrannosaurus rex storming through a pumpkin patch crushing the pumpkins with his mouth. That took me a little bit longer than most cakes because I had to pipe on the Tyrannosaurus and make it kid friendly. I think the boy was six or seven. When cakes are for 14- or 15-year-olds, they can be a little more lifelike. But for little kids, we can go more cartoony and fun. This was fun.

Kassie: For me, it was a cake I made for a group called Icing Smiles. They find out about terminally ill children and then get a decorator in the area to donate a cake. So I made one for a child who was terminal. The family requested a popular pony character and I had fun with that. I got to deliver it to the little girl. That sticks out in my mind as something special.

FROSTING 101

Five easy steps! Purchase blank cakes and buttercream at your Hy-Vee Bakery.

Level the Cake Move a large serrated knife back and forth in a gentle sawing motion to remove the crown of each cake layer so it's level and flat before filling and stacking.

Pipe the Buttercream Use a large round tip to pipe a ring of buttercream around the edge of the first cake layer. Continue piping rings of buttercream to fill in the center.

Smooth the Buttercream Use a spatula to smooth out the buttercream as evenly as possible. Place second cake layer, bottom side up, on top of first layer. The bottom creates a nice flat top for your cake.

Pipe More Buttercream Continue piping rings of buttercream around the sides and on top of the cake.

Smooth the Buttercream Use a large spatula to smooth out the top and push the icing toward the edges of the cake. Then smooth out the sides and go back over the top, if needed.

DECORATE LIKE A PRO

RUFFLE EDGING: Use rose tip #104. Hold decorating bag at a 45-degree angle with wide end of tip lightly touching surface and narrow end facing down and away from surface. Move your wrist up to pull up the icing and down to complete one wave of the ruffle. Repeat this up-and-down motion to complete entire ruffle.

VERTICAL SEA RIBBON: Use open shell tip #199. Hold bag at a 45-degree angle and pipe from bottom up. Squeeze with heavier pressure and slightly lift the tip as the icing builds. Decrease the pressure as you push the tip toward the cake.

ROSETTE TRIM: Use star tip #22. Hold decorating bag at about a 90-degree angle. Lightly squeeze and move your hand to the left, up and around in a circular motion to create a peak at the top.

SMOOTH ROUND BORDER: Use round tip #12. Hold decorating bag at a 45-degree angle with the end of the bag pointing to the right. Squeeze with heavier pressure and slightly lift the tip as the icing builds. Decrease the pressure as you push the tip down toward the cake.

THE 10 PERCENT RULE

Safe, Healthy Treats

Giving treats can be a healthy way to bond with your dog. Try veggies and fruit, such as apple slices (with no seeds), carrot sticks and green beans.
